BRIDGES.

Owing to the inclement weather and the bad condition of the roads, the past week, traveling was almost impossible, hence the scarcity of news. Emery Rhoads won the title of "the traveling blacksmith" by being called upon by many of the farmers of this vicinity and of Centerfield to help them get their horses in condition to travel. The roads were reported by the rural mail carriers to be in the worst condition they have known in their work. Here's hoping "Old Sol" will do his very best this week and that all who were deprived of their visit or the pleasure of entertaining friends on Xmas day may enjoy New Year's day to the fullest extent.

Obituary.

The dates that tell the years of a man's life may be briefly stated and mean little unless we know the life that was lived, the sunshine and shadows that mark these years.

Boyd Nevin, son of R. B. and Mary A. Nevin, was born June 23, 1868 in Hillsboro, and died December 15, 1914. One of eight children, but one brother and a devoted mother survive him with a wife who shared with him a little over three years of happy married life.

Working for many years as a barber and later as a carpenter he made many friends, who have held him in high esteem and mourn with the family to-day.

Significant days in Mr. Nevin's life deserve special mention. One, when as a young man of 15 he joined the Methodist Church; April 10, 1911, when he was married to Miss Bessie McNicol; Feb. 19, 1914, when he joined the Presbyterian Church; and last but not least in its significance to him, his summons to a higher life, Dec. 15, 1914.

The aged mother, who has borne an especial weight of sorrow, we commend to the God who is acquainted with grief. For the wife who is bowed down with sorrow we ask God's strength in her weakness and His tender mercy. For the brother and friends who mourn to-day, we ask a realizing sense of God's love and we pay last honors to the departed thanking God for a life that was crowned with sunshine to the last.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish in this way to thank everyone who ministered to the needs and comfort of Boyd during his sickness, and for the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown after his leaving us. —Bessie L. Nevin, Mary A. Nevin, Louis G. Nevin.

Obituary.

Mildred Alice Massie was born in Highland county, Ohio, March 16, 1853, and departed this life at her home near Lebanon, Missouri, December 12, 1914, at the age of 61 years, 8 months and 26 days.

She grew to young womanhood in the state in which she was born, living the greater part of the time in Fayette and Adams counties. She attended school in Hillsboro at the private seminary conducted by Miss Emily Grand-Girard.

At the age of seventeen she moved with her parents, J. C. and Susan Massie, to Holt county, Missouri.

June 4, 1879, she was united in marriage to Finley Ellsworth Ruhl. To this union were born five children. Of these John W. and Hayden W. are now deceased, Binnie M. is the wife of F. W. Howard, of St. Joseph, Mo., Willard G. resides in Oklahoma, and Edward D. is a student at the high school at Lebanon, Mo.

The body was brought to the Gravel Wall Church, Andrew county, for the funeral and burial and was there laid to rest by the side of her son, Hayden. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Moody. There were present besides the husband and children, her only living sister, Mrs. B. S. Denny, of Des Moines, Iowa, and her two brothers, J. J. Massie, of Craig, and N. K. Massie, of Maitland, Mo., the latter having accompanied the body from Lebanon.

The aged mother, who is now in her eighty-fourth year, and resides with her son, N. K. Massie, near Maitland, owing to the extreme cold was unable to make the drive of fifteen miles to attend the funeral.

At the age of 22 Alice became a Christian, united with the M. E. Church and continued a faithful member of that church until her death.

By nature she was a devout christian, and her greatest joy was in serving others, in comforting the suffering and in helping those in trouble. She thought not of herself, but only sought to lighten the burdens of others. Death, which was from heart failure, came suddenly, but she was certainly prepared to meet her Savior, for to serve Him had been her delight.

The deceased was the eldest of five children, being 22 years old when her father died, and was a great comfort to her mother in those days so dark with loneliness and anxiety. The mother, who has been a widow for almost forty years, is now borne down with sorrow, and with the sister, brothers, husband, and children laments most deeply the taking of this loved one.—B. S. Denny.

Obituary.

Uncle Henry Trout was born Sept. 11, 1828, not far distant from the place where he died at 5 o'clock Monday morning, Dec. 21, 1914, at the well-advanced age of 86 years, 3 months and 10 days.

Uncle Henry was the youngest and only surviving member of a family of five girls and seven boys belonging to the union of George and Sarah Trout, who emigrated from Virginia in the pioneer days of 1807.

The foundation of a noble life was laid among hardships and trials encountered in the days of the early settler, where naught else but determined perseverance and rugged strength of character told in the struggle with nature. So indelibly was the love of truth, the desire for reality and the frugal manner of his youthful days stamped upon his mind that never once in all the years of his long life did he falter or seek to evade the path of duty marked by destiny for his journey.

Uncle Henry truly loved nature. And why should he not? Each flower spoke to him of its unmatchable purity; each tree whispered to him of its message of sturdy strength; each bird sang its wonderful story of love to him and the good old man was near enough his God to grasp the meaning of it all—to revel in the sunlight of his Lord and Master.

And when we come in close communion with God and realize that nature is His handiwork, it is only then that we can understand why he, in his youth, obeyed the Master's command, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God," and was converted at the Prospect M. E. Church and in later years was reconverted at the Berryville Christian Union Church under the pastorate of Rev. Gray. How unerringly he followed the precepts of the Master; how unfailingly he followed in the path of righteousness; how peacefully he stepped into eternity to meet his Savior.

Uncle Henry was married to Julia Ann Miller Sept. 22, 1853, and to this union were born three sons and five daughters, of whom one son and four daughters remain to mourn the loss of their dear old father. There also survives to cherish the memory of Grandpa Troute eleven grand-children and ten great-grand-children.

Uncle Henry may not have been able to boast of physical prowess; he may not leave any institutions to perpetuate his memory or mark the achievement of worldly success; he may not have left a legacy of large earthly means—but he leaves something that is as far above these things as the "Star of Bethlehem" was above the Judean shepherds and that is—a beautiful character, untarnished in life, unsullied through eternity.

This is a most wonderful heritage.

"A heritage it seems to me,
We all might wish to hold in fee."

A heritage more lasting than the lands of the earth, more inspiring than the eloquence of kings, yea purer than gold. A heritage that his children and grand-children can cherish through life and look back upon with a feeling of joy and contentment and "never a fear, that a stain will appear to mar the beauty of his noble life."

It is true that Uncle Henry has left us—that he has gone to join a pure Christian woman whom we were wont to know as Aunt Julia and who for lo! these many years has been with God in eternity.

And while we honestly experience a feeling of joy that the good old man will suffer no more but have life everlasting—yet a spirit of loneliness surrounds us, for no more shall we grip the hardened hand of this honest man, no more shall we hear his kindly words of greeting.

Yet we feel that if we should offer a regret at this time it would be because we have not heeded his sincere admonitions; because we have not accepted his experience at its true worth.

But even now it is not too late, for we may yet gather inspiration from the life of Uncle Henry, we may follow in his footsteps, tho hard they may seem and strive to emulate the character of the departed spirit. Let his life be a light unto our feet, a guide to our faltering steps that we may strive on to gain the reward at the end of the journey and hear the Master's voice as Uncle Henry has heard it "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

He has also played on the Hillsboro team and last year was with the fast Clintons of Wilmington.

Mr. Dick was aged about 76 years and had been a resident of that township all his life. He was a highly educated and cultured man, had served his community as justice of the peace for many years and was a veteran of the Civil war. He is survived by three sons, Dwight, Herman and John, his wife and two children having preceded him.

Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church in Marshall last Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. H. Shields, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Presbyterian cemetery in that village.

Obituary.

Martha Elizabeth, daughter of Josiah and Mary Wright Foster, was one of a family of six children, of whom three survive her.

She was born July 1, 1854, and died Jan. 5, 1915, aged 60 years, 6 months and 4 days. Three score years and six months! Almost the full amount of time allotted to mankind, but we cannot realize as we look upon her to-day that life has held so many years for her.

She was married on April 22, 1876, to Peter Stotler, who was born in Virginia.

They began life together on the farm where she was born—where three generations of her ancestors had lived and died. From its grassy fields and murmuring brooks they have never wandered. Here they were content to spend their lives in honest toil in order to provide for the three little daughters who came to bless their home. All are living, Grace and Leota remain at home to comfort and cheer their father, and Bessie, the youngest, is the wife of John Rolf and the mother of four little children who were dearly beloved by their grand-mother.

More than a quarter of a century ago, under the pastorate of Rev. C. L. Conger, she was converted and united with the M. E. Church at Auburn Chapel. Soon after she transferred her membership to the Friends' Church at New Vienna, yet because of convenience she and her family have attended at Auburn.

About three years ago her health began to fail and although the best medical aid was sought, the decline became more rapid with passing years. In the same undemonstrative manner which characterized her life, she made ready for the journey which she knew she was about to take, and went down into the valley of the shadow of death fearing no evil.

Full well she knew that beyond the Jordan was the sunlight of God's eternal presence.

"In yonder city, cloudless and fair,
Comes darkness never, no night there;
Here we have sorrow, each one his share,
No tears in heaven, no night there."

Obituary.

Jefferson Fawley, son of John and Mary Fawley, of Highland county, Ohio, was born July 22, 1843 and departed this life January 15, 1915, at the age of 71 years, 5 months and 23 days.

When only a boy 13 years old as the still small voice spake to him, entreating him and pleading with him to enlist as a soldier in the army of the great King of kings and Lord of lords, he heeded the call and fought valiantly and manfully for many years in the battles for righteousness, looking unto God for final victory, and uniting with the Reformed church at Danville.

On December 18, 1862 he was married to Miss Lydia Pence by the Rev. Geo A. Leonard. To them were born three daughters and two sons: Mrs. J. F. Van Zant and Mrs. Belle Rupley, of Dayton, Mrs. Dr. Sanderson, of Buford, E. R. Fawley, of Dayton, and Theodore Fawley, of Englewood.

In 1890 Brother Fawley, with his family, moved to Dayton and have resided in that vicinity since. For the past 3 years he has been employed as Rector of the Oak Street U. B. Church, where he served faithfully and well as had been his custom all through life, until about two weeks ago, when he was taken with pneumonia and confined to his home, and which terminated in death.

Brother Fawley was an affectionate and dutiful husband, a kind and indulgent father and a good neighbor, honest and honorable in all his dealings, his word always was equally good with his bond, a pleasant and genial disposition, charitable and ever ready to help any one in time of need. He lived an exemplary, conscientious, consistent Christian life and died the death of a Christian hero.

He leaves to mourn his departure, a beloved widow, 2 sons, 3 daughters, 12 grandchildren, 6 great grandchildren, 1 brother and a large circle of other relatives and friends, who will miss the counsel and advice of such a noble life, but their consolation must be in the fact their temporal loss is Heaven's eternal gain.

As the end was approaching he realized with Paul that he had fought a good fight, that he had kept the faith and that henceforth there was laid up for him a crown of righteousness, and not for him only but in his great unselfish heart he realized that his crown was also for all others that love the appearing of the Lord.

Obituary.

William Henry, the only son of J. J. and Bessie Butler, was born March 3rd, 1907, and departed this life Jan. 23rd, 1915.

His sickness was of short duration and he bore it with remarkable patience when the heart suddenly ceased and the little sufferer slept.

This dear little boy had reached an interesting age. His bright active mind, sweet disposition and attractive ways endeared him to all.

A tender little bud has been plucked from our home, and one we cared for so tenderly has budded on earth to blossom in Heaven. We do not mourn as those who have no hope for God said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for such is the Kingdom of Heaven." We are comforted by the promises that Henry is now safe in the hands of Jesus.

Yet how lonely the home will be without him for his bright smiling face is gone.

He attended school on Friday and seemed to be in perfect health and on his way home was taken sick.

During his brief sickness he talked about his teacher and school-mates whom he loved dearly. Turning on his little side he repeated the prayer that he said each night which were his last words:

Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep;
If I should die before I wake,
I pray the Lord my soul to take.

"God bless papa, mamma, grand-ma, Aunt Nelle, Louise and myself and everybody else. Amen."

We now see that he realized his condition and shortly after 8 o'clock Henry Butler was no more.

God needed one more angel child
Amid his shining band;
And so he bent with loving smile,
And clasped our darling's hand.

Memoir.

John Washington, son of John and Elizabeth Kirkhart, was born in this neighborhood April 17, 1842, and was stricken with paralysis Monday morning, Feb. 15, and lingered till Saturday morning, Feb. 27, 1915, when he peacefully passed away.

When he grew to manhood he acquired a good education and engaged in teaching in this and other counties and was most successful in his time for over twenty years.

September 16, 1859, he was united in marriage to Eliza Kesler, of Russell, who for almost forty-six years was his loving, faithful companion, sharing with him the joys and sorrows which came to them in these long years of married life.

Five sons blessed this union, only three living, namely: Walter, Kenneth and Leslie. The great sorrow of his life came when some years ago Joe, the baby boy, the pet and joy of the home, sickened and died and in a few months John, a bright, handsome man died suddenly leaving the parents broken-hearted over their double bereavement, and a shadow came over their lives which was never lifted; but we feel assured the reunion between father and sons has come and they are forever with the Lord where no sorrow, no pain, no separation ever

And we are reminded once more that death relentlessly takes the dearest and leaves in his place sorrow and loneliness.

Was Member of Band That Kept People of Dozen States in Terror For Several Years After Civil War.

Frank James, the last but one of the members of the notorious James gang, died on his farm near Excelsior Springs, Missouri, last Thursday. James, who was 74 years old, had been in poor health several months and was stricken with apoplexy.

One of the last members of a notorious robber band, whose unparalleled career of crime during the civil war and the unsettled period that followed kept the people of a dozen states in terror. Frank James had been living the life of a quiet farmer for 30 years.

The son of a minister, respected throughout the community, Frank James joined Quantrell's guerillas, together with his brother, Jesse, and took part in the sacking of Lawrence, Kansas. After the guerillas disbanded, the James brothers became bandits. Many notorious crimes of the decade following the war have been laid at the door of the James-Younger band, of which the surviving members were Frank James and Cole Younger, the latter now living at Lee's Summit, Mo.

In 1882, after Jesse James had been shot and killed in his home in St. Joseph, Mo., by Bob Ford, also a bandit, for a reward of $50,000, Frank James surrendered in Jefferson City, Mo., where he was held in jail three weeks, and later taken to Gellatin, where he remained in jail a year awaiting trial. The trial was hard fought. Finally he was acquitted and went to Oklahoma to live with his mother. He never was in the penitentiary and never was convicted of any of the charges against him.

The following clipping, taken from a St. Joseph, Mo., newspaper of recent date, tells of the success of Dr. John A. Patton, a former Highland county boy. Dr. Patton was born in Sinking Spring, but was reared and educated in St. Joseph.

He is a grand-son of the late John N. Gall, for whom he was named, and has frequently visited his birthplace, and has many friends and relatives here who will be glad to hear of his success:

"Dr. John A. Patton, veterinarian in charge for the St. Joseph Livestock Serum Company, accompanied by his wife, will leave to-night for St. Louis to take a position as veterinary inspector with the United States bureau of animal industry.

"The appointment to this position came to Dr. Patton a few days ago from the chief clerk of the bureau at Washington, D. C., and is looked upon as quite a promotion. A telegram from Washington contained an offer of $1,400 to start, and the position provides an increase in salary each year.

"As Dr. Patton never has taken the government examination, his selection is considered a recognition of his ability. The selection of veterinary inspectors in this manner is made because of the increase in work, and men to fill the places are chosen on recommendation.

"Although he is only 22 years old, Dr. Patton has had much experience. He graduated from the St. Joseph veterinary college in April, 1914, and during the three years in college he practiced veterinary medicine as a student. Previous to his graduation he was employed during vacation by the St. Joseph Livestock Serum Company, and as soon as he had finished his studies, he was made veterinarian in charge by that company. He will take up his duties in St. Louis Friday, and his resignation here takes effect to-night."

Esq. John Kirkhart, one of the prominent farmers of this township, died Saturday morning, Feb. 27, after several days illness of paralysis, aged almost seventy-three years. Rev. Moore, of the Christian Church, held a beautiful service at the home, west of Russell, Monday morning and interment at Strange's cemetery.

Mr. West was a successful school teacher and has many relatives and friends who deeply sympathize with the parents and only sister, Miss Helen, who are prostrated over his early passing away. Funeral services were held at West Chapel Tuesday afternoon.

In early manhood he professed faith in Christ and joined the Christian Church and has been true and loyal to the church of his choice ever since.

Since he quit teaching he has devoted his time to farming and was most successful. And as the shadows of life commenced to lengthen and the twilight approached the evening of his life, his great pleasure was in his home and family, living a quiet, happy life. In this neighborhood our brother has lived and died, known and esteemed by all.

As the leaves of autumn fade and die, so we are falling one by one, but spring will come with gentle breezes, flowers will bloom, trees will leaf again, assuring us that we, too, shall live again. But to-day we say farewell to our brother for awhile, but we feel assured that we will meet again in the home land where he has gone.

Resolutions of Respect.

Death has entered into Benetta Rebekah Lodge, No. 708, of East Danville, and taken away one of our sisters, Mrs. Pearl Strain, who departed this life Feb. 22, 1915. Richard Burns, familiarly known to his many friends in this city as "Dick" Burns, committed suicide in a hotel in Springfield last Thursday by drinking about half the contents of a vial containing carbolic acid. Mr. Burns, who was born and reared in this city, was a printer, having worked at both the Gazette and News-Herald plants. In telling of his self-destruction the Sun, of Springfield, said:

"Holding in his hand a piece of paper upon which was written his name and the words 'trunk separate' Richard Burns, aged about forty, a well-known Springfield printer, was found dead at about two o'clock this morning at his room in the Fountain hotel where he had drained about half of an ounce vial of carbolic acid.

"Burns had apparently been dead for some time when he was found. The body was discovered by Night Clerk Clyde Noora, 614 Dibert avenue, who, seeing the key to the room in its place, thought the room empty and was taking a late guest to the room. Noora stumbled over the body in the dark, as he was groping for the light cord.

"The bed had not been disturbed, indicating that Burns had probably taken the poison shortly after he had been seen to enter the hotel at about supper time. He was registered on the hotel book, but had presumably left his room unlocked earlier in the day, and had not taken his key when he went upstairs. He had registered some time during the day, and no card had been made out for him. The words 'trunk separate' are presumed to have been written for the guidance of those finding the body, owing to the fact that Burns had taken a room in Spring street and had left his trunk there.

"Burns had been a printer and had worked at a number of places in the city, his last position being at the Farm and Fireside. He had been out of work for a short time, and had been in ill health, being unable to sleep.

"He leaves a wife and a four-year-old child, from whom he separated about a week ago. Two sisters and a brother live in Chicago."

Catherine Ann DeHaas, daughter of Wm. and Polly DeHaas, was born Feb. 5, 1849, near East Danville, died at her home near Hollowtown, March 2, 1915, aged 66 years and 27 days. Her father, mother and one sister have preceded her in death. Nov. 30, 1871, she was united in marriage to Joseph Gomia and to this union were given five children, two sons and three daughters. One son died in infancy and Wm. Henry entered at the age of eighteen months, leaving the three daughters, Drusella Davidson, Edna Jane Moler and Gertrude Brown, together with the husband, one sister, one brother and three grand-children left to mourn the loss of this loved one. She will also be remembered by many neighbors and friends who are left that received ministrations of love and assistance during their sickness and sorrow. She, when in health, was ever alert to those who were in distress. For some years that are gone she never enjoyed the health that others have had, though while a great sufferer she found comfort in the sympathizing Jesus. She united with the Church of the Brethren twenty-seven years ago, which station she maintainted until God said, "Come higher."

But the sun is sloping westward,
Troubles come and cares increase;
Looking back on happy childhood,
Sighing for its hours of peace.

Now, the sun is sinking
Gone, its tints fade in the west,
And old age lays down its burden,
Dust to dust, at peace, at rest.

The people of this community were greatly shocked last Saturday when word came of the death of Robert E. Stroup, formerly editor and proprietor of the Lynchburg News, which occurred at the Seton Hospital in Cincinnati on Friday afternoon. He had recently sold his holdings in the News at Lynchburg and had gone to Cincinnati where he was making preparations to start a weekly paper at Ludlow, Ky.

Mr. Stroup, who was about 47 years of age, was taken suddenly ill on Friday morning at the Palace Hotel and suffered a hemorrhage of the stomach, and although he was immediately removed to the hospital his condition grew worse and death ended his suffering in the afternoon.

He had been in the newspaper business all his life and was not only a writer of splendid ability, but also was thoroughly conversant with the mechanical department of a printing office. During his career as a newspaper man he had been connected with the Daily Irontonian and Daily Republican, Ironton, Ohio; The Republican at Springfield, Mo., and papers at Springfield and Columbus, Ohio. In addition he published a paper for several years at Russell, Ky., and then came to Lynchburg a little over a year ago and began the publication of the News, making that one of the newsiest weekly papers in this part of the state.

Mr. Stroup was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Stroup, of Dodsonville, and a brother of Postmaster Charles G. Stroup, of Lynchburg. The body was brought to the home of his parents on Saturday morning and funeral services were held at the Lutheran Church at Dodsonville on Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. Martin, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Stroup cemetery near that village.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH.

Well-Known Young Man Succumbs Following the Extraction of a Tooth.

Cecil Harrington, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrington, died very suddenly last Wednesday morning from what is believed to have been caused by medicine given him by a dentist when he had a tooth extracted.

The young man, who was 22 years old, had gone to the car of Dr. A. C. Minor, a dentist who travels over the country, and had an aching tooth removed. No ill effects were felt at the time and he afterward came to Hillsboro where he remained most of the day. However, that evening he complained that his neck had swollen and later when his breathing became impaired a physician was called, but treatment failed to relieve him and he died early Wednesday morning. Dr. Minor has been coming to this county for several years. He is considered reliable and capable and no blame is attached to him for the unfortunate affair.

The death of young Harrington, who is well-known to many people here, came as a severe shock and the parents have the sincere sympathy of the entire community. Funeral services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock and interment made in the cemetery at Hillsboro.

We Should Smile.

The thing that goes the farthest toward making life worth while,
That costs the least and does the most, is just a pleasant smile.
The smile that bubbles from the heart that loves its fellowmen,
Will drive away the cloud of gloom and coax the sun again.
It's full of worth and goodness, too, with manly kindness blent;
It's worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent.
There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile.
It always has the same good look—it's never out of style;
It nerves us on to try again when failure makes us blue.
Such dimples of encouragement are good for me and you.
So smile away; folks understand by what a smile is meant
It's worth a million dollars and it doesn't cost a cent.

Ralph Fullerton, formerly of this city, and Miss Mary Hunter were united in marriage at Salt Lake City, Utah, on March 18. Mr. Fullerton, who is a brother of Hugh Fullerton, noted sporting writer, was a member of Co. F, Ohio volunteers, during the Spanish-American war and afterward saw service in the Philippines. He is extremely popular here and his many friends will be interested to hear of his marriage. He, like many other Hillsboro boys who have gone out in the world, is making good, being at the head of the contractors supply department of a big hardware company. His wife is a Salt Lake City girl and The Gazette extends congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

Ira Simpson, aged about thirty years, shot and killed himself last Sunday morning about 8:30 o'clock in the bath room at the Crescent Club in Blanchester. Mr. Simpson was a clerk in the postoffice in that village and at one time was a teacher in the Blanchester high school.

It is alleged that the rash act was committed because of a quarrel he had with a young lady of Hillsboro, Miss Hallie Roush, with whom he had kept company for some time. It is said he met the girl a year or more ago when she was employed in an office in Blanchester and the friendship ripened into love. Later there was an estrangement and it is believed this preyed upon his mind to such an extent as to cause him to take his own life.

Just how many minutes the young man had been dead when his body was discovered about nine o'clock is not known, but it could not have been very long, as he did not leave the postoffice until 8:30 and it is supposed he went immediately to the room where he committed suicide.

It is said that Simpson had made arrangements to meet Miss Roush at the home of her parents in Russell last Sunday morning, but when she went to the train she was horrified by the news that the young man had taken his life.

Simpson is said to have been a young man of splendid character and was very popular. Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon and interment made in the cemetery at Blanchester.

A. E. Hough died at the Highland County Hospital last Wednesday afternoon, death having been caused by a hemorrhage of the throat. Mr. Hough had been in ill health for many years, but it was not until about a year ago that his condition became such that his friends had cause to worry. At that time, while on a visit to his niece, Mrs. B. A. Gage, in Cleveland, he suffered an attack of laryngitis and since then had gradually failed.

Mr. Hough was born near Leesburg on Sept. 10, 1862, and consequently was aged 52 years and 7 months at the time of his death. He came to this city in the latter part of 1883 and on January 1, 1884, took up the duties of editing the Hillsboro Gazette and served continuously in that capacity for over thirty-one years, only giving up the position last July when he received the appointment of postmaster of Hillsboro.

Although little hope of his recovery had been given during the past few weeks, the intelligence of the death of Mr. Hough came as a shock and was received with expressions of regret and sympathy from all parts of the county. Even for a man who had been so prominent in the business, social and political affairs of Hillsboro and Highland county, the extent of his personal acquaintance was a large one.

No nobler, truer man than A. E. Hough ever lived. Among his friends he was a universal favorite and was not only a man of warm impulses and a kind heart but was generous to a fault. He was conscientious and while tolerant of the frailties of others and with no suggestion nor pretention of self-righteousness he was inflexible in his adherence to his own conceptions of right. His ideas of justice were acute and he was never known to perpetrate a wilful wrong against another.

To those who have been closely associated with Mr. Hough for so many years in the Gazette office, his death seems especially hard to bear, for his wise and friendly counsel will be missed, but the memory of his noble qualities will always endure. However, the poet Campbell has said

"To live in hearts we leave behind
Is not to die."

And if we recognize the truth of this beautiful sentiment then A. E. Hough is not dead, for no man in Hillsboro had a larger circle of true friends than he, and his reputation will remain enshrined in their hearts until they, too, are called to pass over the dark river to the great unknown beyond.

In passing it is but just to say that the high standard maintained by the Gazette during the thirty-one years of his connection was largely due to his controlling influence. He was one of the most interesting and entertaining writers in Ohio and until ill health interfered he was recognized as one of the most brilliant editors in the state. It is almost impossible to make any just prediction of the good work which he did as a newspaper man and the value of his influence in this community, but his death is a serious loss to Hillsboro and Highland county. However, he fought a good fight and rests from his labors.

Politically he was a Democrat and in season and out he was found fighting for the principles of his party, and while on several occasions it was believed he did not fully concur in the views of others in his party he was ever loyal, and during his long career as editor of this paper he labored for the interests of the candidates who were of his own political faith. In fact, many a man in Highland county owes his election to office to A. E. Hough whose resourcefulness knew no bounds.

Mr. Hough was a charter member of the Elks' lodge of Hillsboro. He is survived by three brothers, Judge R. T. Hough, of Washington, D. C.; one brother living in the West and another in Kentucky and a sister, Mrs. George Rapp, of Sabina. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Louis E. Durr, will be held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church this morning at 9:30 o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Sabina for interment.

Emmons Gutridge, son of Charles Gutridge, formerly of this city, has made a great reputation as a wrestler in Toledo during the past few years, but recently took up the boxing game and is considered by the fight fans in that city to be a comer.

The following letter which is self explanatory was received by The Gazette a few days ago:

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Marty Goodrich, of Toledo, one of the best known middleweight wrestlers in the country will make his debut as a boxer Friday evening, April 30th, at the Valentine theatre here when he meets Jimmie Basso, the Cleveland boy, who has a great reputation.

Goodrich is a former Hillsboro boy and in private life is known as Emmons Gutridge.

Goodrich is being tutored by Johnny Hart, who at one time was considered one of the best referees in the country. He is boxing daily with Jack Reed who just a few weeks ago boxed Gunboat Smith a 10 round draw.

After his bout with Basso, Marty is going to take a trip to Cleveland where he intends to polish up his boxing by working with champion Johnny Kilbane.

Everybody here is expecting wonders out of Goodrich and his bout is attracting a lot of attention.

Yours very truly,
C. M. WELDON.

She was a member of the beginner's class in the Baptist Sunday School. She loved her Sunday School and was much loved by her fellow pupils. She was in the second grade of the public school and was very much interested in her school work. Her life story may be told as follows:

When our dear Savior on earth did live,
They brought to Him children small,
That He unto them His blessing might give,
And He gave it them, one and all.
His blessing He freely gave each one
As he placed His hand on each head,
And lifting His voice to the gathered throng,
He blessed one lovingly and said,
"Suffer the children to come unto me,
And forbid them not to come
For of such shall the Kingdom of Heaven be,
The place where I gather them home."

Obituary.

Lydia C. Edwards, second daughter of Robert and Elizabeth Edwards, was born in Chester county, Pennsylvania, Dec. 8, 1834, and died at her home in Highland, O., May 24, 1915, aged eighty years, five months and sixteen days. Only one brother, Jesse, survives of this family of eight children.

When Lydia was about two and one-half years of age her parents decided to leave their home in Pennsylvania and seek their fortune in the then far west. They came in wagons over the mountains to the home of a relative, William Chalfont, near Leesburg. Here they lived for some time, but finally located near Highland where they built a substantial brick house which still stands in good repair.

From this home Lydia was married on Nov. 27, 1856, to Silas W. Horsman. To this union was born four sons and three daughters. They lived for a number of years at the depot in Highland where Mr. Horsman conducted a general store in connection with the care of the B. & O. railroad interests. They spent a few years in Wilmington, returned to Highland and occupied the house formerly owned by Thomas Long.

Here on Sept. 24, 1900, the husband left her to go on a long, long journey. Theirs was a happy home to which friends and relatives always received a hearty welcome and where children and grand-children delighted to go.

Great sorrows came into her life, but she bravely bore them trusting in her Heavenly Father's wisdom. Always cheerful, loving and deeply interested in everything pertaining to the happiness of those around her, ready to lend a helping hand to the needy and sympathize with the sorrowing, she seemed to have found in trying to brighten the lives of others, the real joy in living. She took great delight in associating with the young people of her acquaintance and evidenced much interest in their welfare and pleasures. A loving, faithful wife, mother and friend.

She had a birth-right membership in the Hixite Friends' Church, but later became one of the charter members of the latter day Friends when the church was organized in Highland. She was faithful in her attendance at the meetings even after the years of failing health were upon her and gave liberally toward its support.

She was a member of the W. F. M. S. and thoroughly enjoyed her privilege of helping to spread the gospel.

Her long day of sunshine and shadow has drawn to its close, and the two sons, two daughters, grand-children, great-grand-children, relatives and friends view from afar the sunset splendors as they deepen into the twi-

Obituary.

William H. Few, son of Wm. and Mary Few, was born in Illinois March 7, 1843, and departed this life June 4, 1915, aged 72 years, 2 months and 28 days.

At the age of 24 years he was united in marriage to Mrs. Mary F. Turner May 4, 1867. To this union were born five sons and one daughter. Mrs. Mary Few preceded Mr. Few in death Feb. 8, 1900.

In the year 1904 Mr. Few was again united in marriage to Mrs. Laura Spears. No children were born to this union.

He leaves to mourn his death his wife, four sons, Samuel, of New Richmond, Chas. F., of Mowrystown, and John A. and Wm. A., of Hamilton. One son, James H., preceded his father in death about five weeks ago and one daughter, Mary F., has gone to her reward.

By her former marriage Mrs. Mary Turner had a son, David Edward Turner. This step-son was held in as high esteem and loved and cared for as much as any of the other sons and he is left to mourn the death of our brother. He also leaves to mourn his loss ten grand-children, three great-grand-children, four brothers, Joe, John, Benjamin and George, and five sisters, Francis, Mollie, Eliza, Hannah and Melissa.

When the call came for volunteers in the Civil War Mr. Few responded and enlisted in the 60th Ohio Infantry at the age of eighteen. Serving four months he was taken prisoner at Harper's Ferry, from which he was paroled to Chicago and there honorably discharged. After this he re-enlisted in the 11th Ohio Cavalry, serving until the close of the war, his actual service being 3 years and 5 months.

About the year 1880 Mr. Few united with the M. E. Church at Sugartree Ridge under the pastorate of Rev. L. O. Deputy. On moving to Mowrystown he united with the United Brethren Church, continuing a member until his death. During his life he held some of the most important offices of the church. He was superintendent of the Sabbath School for quite awhile, was class leader and teacher of the ladies' class.

Mr. Few was a blacksmith by trade, and not being able to bestow upon his children great worldly riches, taught them all but one son his trade, which certainly speaks well as a parent. He loved his children and they in turn loved him and would hasten home upon the call of his sickness.

Mr. Few was a citizen of respect, What he was, he was. Surely he will be missed by our community, but most surely he will be missed by his family. He worked at his trade until old age and sickness compelled him to lay down the hammer.

His sickness began last November and since that time he had a hard struggle to regain his health, which he never fully did, was able to get out and around just a little, but suddenly he took ill and death relieved him of his suffering which at times was very great. Like Paul he had said it mattered not to him to live or die, he was ready. What a comfort to those who mourn his death.

Brother Few loved to read his Bible, having just before his illness purchased a new one, and John 3-16 was the verse he loved to meditate upon.

To Be Married in New Orleans.

The many friends of Miss Edna Rhoades, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Rhoades, formerly of Hillsboro, will be interested in the announcement that she is to be married this afternoon to Mr. Ben. N. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom will leave for San Francisco on a honeymoon trip to the Panama-Pacific exposition. Miss Rhoades was born and reared in this city and is a strikingly pretty girl and Mr. Roth is certainly to be congratulated upon his good fortune in winning her for a life partner.

Just twenty-five years ago this week the Gazette published the following marriage licenses. How many of the contracting parties do you know?

W. A. Ausman and Hannah Jane Sweeney.

W. C. Streber and Stella Simpson.

HarveyC. Caplinger and Ida Maddox.

Lang B. Lemon and Miss Grace Hill, the attractive and accomplished daughter of Mrs. D. H. Hill, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother on South High street on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Louis E. Durr, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, the pretty and impressive ring service of that church being used.

Mr. Lemon and his bride are among Hillsboro's most popular young people and the best wishes of the Gazette and their many other friends are extended for a happy and prosperous married life. While the wedding was a quiet affair, on account of the recent death of the bride's father, its simplicity and impressiveness marked it as one of the prettiest events of the kind occurring in Hillsboro for some time. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for a short honeymoon trip after which they will be at home to their friends temporarily at the residence of the bride's mother.

Hillsboro Boy Married.

Homer Burton, formerly of this city, and Miss Mable Stites, of Hyde Park, were married at the home of the bride's parents last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Burton, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Burton, has for some time been located in Norwood and the happy couple will reside in that city.

Lorenzo Henderson, a young colored man aged about 20 years, was killed near Carthage last Saturday night, having lost his life beneath the wheels of a train on which he was supposed to have been stealing a ride from Cincinnati to Hamilton.

Henderson went to Hamilton several months ago where he secured employment as a porter in the Hotel DeArmond. He was a quiet, well-behaved young man and for a number of years was in the employ of Bowles & Co., of this city.

Last Saturday afternoon, having been granted a half holiday, he went to Cincinnati. Not having much money with him he found upon starting back that he did not have enough to pay his railroad fare so he decided to make an attempt at riding the bumpers.

When the C. H. & D. freight train on which he was riding had proceeded a short distance Henderson was dislodged from his position and the wheels of several of the cars passed over his body which was mangled into an almost unrecognizable pulp. However, some papers found in his pockets led to his identification and his mother here was communicated with. Young Henderson's father was William Henderson, of Cleveland, who for a number of years has been separated from his family. Mrs. Henderson and the children have resided here and are highly respected colored people.

The body was turned over to Kincaid & Son, undertakers of Hillsboro, on Tuesday and it was brought here that night. Funeral services were held on Wednesday and interment made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

James Taylor, a farmer living near Fruitdale, was found dead in a corn field near his home one day last week. He was a bachelor and lived alone and the fact that his faithful horse was seen standing in the same place as neighbors had noticed it the afternoon before led to an investigation, which resulted in finding the man's dead body. All through the hot afternoon and the lonely hours of night, although no-doubt suffering from thirst and hunger, the trusty animal had stood near his master. Funeral services were held at his home and interment made in Greenfield cemetery.

The death of Mr. Taylor, who was aged about 62 years, recalls the fact that his two brothers, Stanley and John Taylor, were killed on March 17, 1883, near Greenfield, by William Keys, the double tragedy being remembered by many of our older citizens. The story of the killing as given in our issue of March 22, 1883, will be of interest to many of our readers. It is substantially as follows:

"Last Saturday night a startling shooting affray occurred near Greenfield on the pike leading to Bainbridge in which Stanley Taylor was instantly killed and his brother, John Taylor, mortally wounded by William Keys. On the evening in question, the Taylor boys and a relative by the name of Jap. Moore had been in Greenfield but had returned home at 10 o'clock and retired.

"About midnight the Taylor boys' mother was awakened by someone shouting and she called Stanley Taylor who went out to investigate. The caller was Wm. Keys and he at once accused the boys of taking a fine buffalo robe from his buggy in Greenfield [illegible] that it be returned. Stanley Taylor denied knowledge of the affair and went into the house and returned with his brother and Moore who had stayed with them that night. A few words ensued when two shots were fired by Keys in rapid succession and both of the Taylors fell. Stanley was killed instantly, but his brother, John, did not expire until Sunday night, March 25, 1883."

The first trial of Keys was begun in Chillicothe on June 17, 1883, with Judge Henry M. Huggins, of Hillsboro, presiding. He was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary, but was granted a new trial by the supreme court, which resulted in the jury disagreeing and finally ended in his being acquitted. His attorneys were Ulric Sloane the great criminal lawyer, and Cyrus Newby, the latter at present common pleas judge of this county.

United in Marriage.

Leland Stanford, of New York City, and Miss Etta Williamson, of Hillsboro, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's mother on West Walnut street last Tuesday evening about 5 o'clock by Dr. W. H. Shields of the Presbyterian Church. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for St. Louis on a honeymoon trip after which they will go to New York to reside.

Stanley Mullenix, of Buford, and Grace Dean, of Mt. Oreb, were issued a marriage license at Georgetown last week.

Obituary.

Mary Jane Pelton, daughter of Henry and Frances Pelton, was born Nov. 6, 1847, died July 2, 1915, aged 67 years, 7 months and 26 days. She was united in marriage to Nathan P. Landess January 18, 1867. She was given three children, two boys and one girl, one boy leaving her in infancy. She was a charter member of the Church of Christ at Danville, having previously been baptized by Brother J. W. Ruble and uniting with the church at Pricetown, Ohio.

She was a woman of quiet disposition, gentle, kind and loving. She helped to rear a family of respectable children who were present to pay their last respects to a loving friend.

Having been a sufferer for years yet she bore it all gently. Being urged to to call a physician she desisted in hopes of gaining strength. Having undergone a surgical operation she gradually weakened until the end came. Knowing that the end was near she talked to her friends, called her husband, extended her hand, bid him goodbye and calmly fell asleep in Jesus.

She leaves to mourn a husband, two children, twelve grand-children, two great-grand-children, one sister, three brothers and a host of friends.

All that medical skill could do was done, but to no avail, the call came and she must answer. Her work was done and she was ready to rest. Our loss is Heaven's gain for she has gone to be redeemed. Her robe was made white in the "Blood of the Lamb."

We know not what it is, dear,
This sleep so deep and still,
The folded hands, the awful calm
The cheek so pale and chill;
The lids that will not lift again,
Though we may call and call;
The strange white solitude of peace
That settles over all.

But this we know; our loved and dead,
If they should come this day,
Should come and ask us "what is life?"
Not a one of us could say,
Life is a mystery as deep

TURNER—STULTZ

Homer Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Turner, of Hillsboro, and Miss Nellie Stultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stultz, of Pricetown, stole a march on their friends last Saturday and went to Covington, Ky., where they were married. Mr. Turner is engaged in the insurance business here with his father and he and his bride are popular young people.

Robert Donaldson, colored, aged about 58 years, dropped dead at Barrett's livery barn last Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock from an attack of heart trouble which it is thought was superinduced by the intense heat.

Donaldson had been in the employ of N. R. Barrett off and on for a number of years and was considered one of the most reliable stable men in Hillsboro. He had been complaining for several days, but little attention had been paid to him as his illness was not considered as serious. In company with another employe he was working as usual at the barn when he suddenly fell to the floor. A physician was immediately summoned, but all the skill at his command was ineffectual in his efforts to revive the stricken man who succumbed in a very few minutes.

Donaldson, who was a widower, made his home at the residence of Al. Trimble on North West street. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon after which interment was made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Lucy Elizabeth Colter.

One of the sorrows of war dear that the soldier must die away fr home. So we feel with regard to c friends; we wish they might have gone from the old familiar scenes to that "land of pure delight." No one could have been more tenderly, patiently and faithfully cared for through a long illness than Mrs. Colter by her grand-children, Percy and Lucy Goins, and their two daughters, in their Columbus home, and other kind relatives and friends.

Her native town was Hillsboro, where she passed most of her life, and last Thursday Mrs. Colter was brought home and the funeral was from the colored Baptist Church, and the burial made by the side of her husband, as she requested.

Mrs. Colter was a faithful nurse, a beautiful needle-woman, a fine cook and an excellent manager of money affairs, and this was recognized not only in her home, but in the colored Baptist Church. Her pride was her family, her grand-daughter, Lucy, and her two devoted great-grand-children, Barbara and Mary, whose development she had watched with unfailing affection from babyhood. Mrs. Colter was a strong christian, very patient through a long, painful illness. She had the composure and strength which always comes with a perfect satisfaction with one's own church and creed. She was a Baptist and her church's ways

"Were ways of pleasantness,
And all her paths were peace."

She was naturally heroic and brave; midnight darkness and starlight were the same to her whose "eyes were lifted unto the hills."

Mrs. Colter once told me a missionary story which greatly impressed her and many others. A woman missionary from Africa was speaking to the women of her church. She said, "what impressed me the most is your ingratitude. All of you have homes, food, clothes and fires; but, where I work in Africa, I live in a hut, and sometimes I have a fire and sometimes a candle. One dark night there was a rap at my door and I opened it and there was a boy standing there and he said, 'Won't you come and help me get my sister off the railroad track; she is freezing to death.' I put my shawl over my head and we brought the child to my fire and she soon revived. That heathen boy looked up into my face and said: 'You must belong to the Lord Jesus.' I said, 'I do, go and do thou likewise.'"

Mrs. Colter lived in our family and home for many years. She was with us when both our dear parents left us; and not only those nearest to her, but others will remember her

"By what she hath done."

ROUSH'S CROSSING.

The Roush reunion was held last Sunday and the relatives and neighbors gathered in the grove about 11 o'clock with well-filled baskets. The table prepared at noon time was laden with many good things, including all kinds of fruit and melons, and the crowd surely did ample justice to the dinner. A horrible accident occurred on the farm of Deck West about two miles below Rainsboro on Tuesday afternoon which cost Lee Granstaff, a farm hand, his life. Together with several other men, Granstaff was engaged in filling a silo. His duty was looking after the gasoline engine which was used in the work.

Shortly after the men began work in the afternoon a cog wheel on the ensilage cutter broke and another was substituted. All went well for awhile when the second wheel broke. R. A. Peabody, to whom the engine belonged, went back to turn off the power, but when within a short distance of the machine, which was mounted on a wagon, Granstaff was seen to crawl under the belt. When Mr. Peabody reached the rear of the engine he saw Granstaff lying on the ground in a pool of blood. He immediately called the other men and a physician was summond, but life was extinct, as the victim had been horribly mangled, both jaws being dislocated, both shoulders dislocated, his neck broken and skull crushed.

Just how the accident happened is a mystery, as none of those present were eye witnesses, but it is believed Granstaff reached through the revolving belt to adjust something and was caught between the belt and the pulley, which was of the friction clutch variety, and his life crushed out in a few seconds.

Granstaff was married and had three young children. He was aged about 52 years and was a man of good habits and was highly respected. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon after which the body was taken to Newfain, in Pike county, for interment.

Obituary.

In the passing, Aug. 28, 1915, of Mary Evaline Kelly Carlisle, widow of George Carlisle, to whom she was married Oct. 29, 1857, and the daughter of James and Anna Beatty Kelly, born Feb. 12, 1834, earth has lost and heaven has gained a woman of true Christian and patriotic character. The re-union with her loved ones, gone before, is the just fruition of her life.

She came of a long line of Scotch-Irish and Christian ancestry, was a direct descendent of Gen. Beatty, of Revolutionary fame, as was her husband, for they were cousins, once removed, though his was a double endowment of Revolutionary ancestry as the Carlisles also fought for America's faeedom.

Three sons were born to them, one dying in infancy, but the twin sons, John and James, grew into splendid manhood and live to enjoy the rich heritage of their parents. The father passed on about eight years ago, leaving to the sons the loving companionship of their mother. To them she was ever "The First Lady of the Land" and their home life, to the last, was the ideal one.

Now, they do not mourn for her, but think of the long, useful, joyous life she had and rejoice that all through these years the preparations for the change was going on and when it came there was no unusual stir, no bustle of getting ready, but a quiet slipping of the cable, when she put out to sea and they knew the voyage would be a safe one, for the Captain guided ever true, and the pilot at the wheel is vigilant and reliable and all would be well with her forever.

Although of ample means she was a busy housewife, the queen of her home, to the last, and the hospitable doors of the George Carlisle home were open, not only to relatives and friends, but the weary wayfarer, and the unfortunate were housed and fed with no show of charity.

Closely confined to her home the last years she did not neglect wordly affairs, but read and kept posted, being ready to intelligently discuss all public movements suggested.

She and her husband became members of the Christain Union Church, at Marshall, Ohio, when first organized and remained so throughout their lives.

She was the last of a trio of remarkable women, who were cousins, born, lived and died within the radius of a few miles. The first to go was Mrs. Elizabeth Carlisle Hughes, the next Mrs. Olive Weaver Richards; now the trio is again complete, for we know they are together. We believe that each of them looked upon death as a friend and addressed it thus:

"O dear and friendly death!
End of my road however long it be,
Wanting with hospitable hand stretched out,
And full of gifts for me.

Why do some call thee foe,
Clouding with darksome mists thy face divine?
Life was sweet but poor her gifts do seem
When matched with thine.

Thou holdest in thy store
Full satisfaction of all doubt, reply
To question, and the golden clue to dreams
Which idly passed us by.

Thou bringest me to mine own;
The garnered flowers which felt thy sickle keen,
And the full vision of that face divine,
Which I have loved unseen.

O dear and friendly death!
End of my road, however long it be,
Nearing me day by day I still can smile
Whene'er I think of thee."

Obituary.

Wm. E. Brown, son of Joshua and Jennettie Brown, was born near Hoagland's Crossing, Highland county, O., June 9, 1845. He was one of a family of nine children, all of which grew to man and womanhood. He received his education in the country school and the great workshop of experience.

When but a boy, when the agitation for the extension of human slavery was at its height and the clouds of war were towering all about and it seemed that this great Republic would be torn asunder and the clanking of the chains of human slavery could almost be heard from the Lakes to the Gulf, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, he offered his services for the preservation of the Union. He enrolled for the service of his country at the age of 16 years, but his parents refused to let him go as he was so young. His patriotism was so strong however, that on the very day that he was 18 years old, June 9, 1863, when the Immortal Lincoln had called for 300,000 volunteers to save the Union in the darkest days of that great Civil conflict, when the rivers of the land were running red with the bravest human blood, he left his plow standing in the field where he was cultivating corn, went to Hillsboro and enlisted in the 24th O. Light A. Ind. Battery, commanded by Capt. Hill. He was mustered in the U. S. S. at Camp Dennison July 10, 1863, and served his country faithfully until the shackles of human slavery were broken and the people were reunited into the most powerful Republic on earth. He was honorably discharged from the service of his country in June, 1865.

He was married to Anna E. Bennett Dec. 22, 1867. To this union were born 12 children, 10 of which are still living, viz: Mrs. Wm. H. Parker, of Lipscomb, Texas, Jasper Brown, Wm. E. Brown, Jr., Parnell and Bernice L. who all reside at or near the old home, John C. Brown, of Berryville, Mrs. M. G. Swan, Mrs. Wm. Westland, Alphonso H. Brown, of Upland, Cal. and Mrs. Wm. Harris, of Bakersfield, Cal. One infant died Feb. 19, 1879, and Anna Blanche was called away Aug. 22, 1909. He is survived by the ever loving wife of his boyhood days, who was ever at his bedside in his last illness, day and night, ministering to his every want as a guardian angel, guarding the portals of light. No one ever received more faithful care 'till the last spark of life had fled. One woman in a million.

He also leaves to mourn his loss three loving sisters, ten living children, all grown to man and womanhood, nineteen grand-children and one great-grand-child. He had been a sufferer for many years but during the last few months of his life was perfectly helpless and had to be fed as a little child. Too much credit cannot be given to Sister Bernice, who left her chosen profession of trained nurse in a California hospital at the call from home and for nearly 2 years was constantly at his side doing all that was possible to alleviate his sufferings until the grim reaper called him home Sept. 18, 1915, at the age of 70 years, 3 months, 9 days.

It seemed to be his chief aim in life to direct and develop the minds of his loved ones in the channel of morality, truth, intellectuality, enterprise, determination and economy. His leading thought was "Mind is greater than matter." There was nothing he despised in life more than a hypocrite and liar. He was plainspoken but conscientious to a fault. Though not a member of any church, he, like Lincoln, Franklin and others, did not want to be hemmed in by any religious creed or dogma.

He is gone from us forever in this life! His kindly face and words of wisdom will be sadly missed around the hearth and home but let us trust that we, as infant twigs of humanity, have been nourished, pruned and developed until we are able to stand, shoulder to shoulder, as the mighty trees of a great forest resisting all storms of life.

Father is gone. His sufferings are ended. His spirit has flown from earth. It has been wafted into the eternal portals of everlasting light, there to rest forever. Though he has gone, his spirit yet lives and though separated from this tenement of clay, may his spirit and our spirits yet commingle here and in that other eternal elysium forever with a living God. Earth to earth, dust to dust, ashes to ashes.

A Sudden Death.

Commodore Tener, one of Hillsboro's most prominent business men, died suddenly at his home in this city last Monday morning, aged about 65 years. While Mr. Tener had been in ill health for several years, his death came as a shock to his many friends. Throughout his career as a business man, the deceased demonstrated his possession of those qualities that go to make up the ideal citizen. In his private life he was above reproach and his attitude on all public questions was eminently fair and without regard to any selfish interests.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fenner ..d at her home on Pleasant street Tuesday night from a stroke of paralysis, aged 60 years. Funeral services will be held this morning and the body taken to Lynchburg for interment.

A distressing accident occurred at the corner of High and Main streets in this city last Saturday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock when Jacob Wisecup was knocked down by an automobile and sustained injuries from which he succumbed Sunday night. The streets were crowded at the time and the accident occurred in plain view of several hundreds of people.

The machine which struck Mr. Wisecup was driven by Mrs. Ted Roush, of Russell, who according to eyewitnesses, was going slowly on account of the large number of people on the streets, when Wisecup suddenly stepped in front of the auto and was knocked down and run over by one of the front wheels. As soon as possible the unfortunate man was taken to a physician's office, medical aid rendered and later he was removed to his home on the Marshall pike, where he died Sunday evening. It is believed the shock of the accident had much to do with his death owing to his advanced age although he was probably injured internally.

Mr. Wisecup was aged about 82 years and a veteran of the civil war. He had been in feeble health for many years and was very deaf and no doubt became bewildered and deliberately stepped in front of the machine.

From the statements of Mrs. Roush, which were corroborated by a number of persons who witnessed the accident, she was driving carefully and no blame is attached to her. However, she is almost distracted over the unfortunate affair and she, as well as the members of Mr. Wisecup's family, have the sympathy of the entire community. While Mrs. Roush is absolved from blame in the matter, steps should at once be taken to prevent a repetition of the deplorable accident by establishing suitable traffic rules.

The funeral services of Mr. Wisecup occurred at his home east of town on Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock and were conducted by Rev. E. R. Slutz, of the Methodist Church, assisted by the members of the G. A. R. Interment was made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Obituary.

Commodore Perry, son of Charles and Mary Tener, was born at New Market, Ohio, Oct. 27, 1850, and departed this life at his home in Hillsboro, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1915, aged 64 years, 11 months and 7 days. He was the fourth child of a family of seven children. One by one death hath called the members of this once large and happy family, until but one, Miss Mittie, now survives.

Commodore spent his boyhood days in New Market, where compliance with the careful training of prudent parents, he formulated as a guide for himself, through life, that estimable principle—good character, in which are embodied honesty, fidelity, integrity, industry and all the noble attributes known to mankind.

In early manhood, he started out for success in life and engaged in various lines of business and about thirty years ago, came to Hillsboro, where he engaged in the mercantile business and where he has since resided. He was never a very robust man, but as his business prospered he on account of his industry became more courageous, not only to succeed, but to please his many patrons. He had been in business in Hillsboro but a short time until by his congeniality, socially and by his honesty in a business way, he won the respect of all with whom he came in contact and his friends are numbered by the score all over Highland county. He continued this active business life until about two years ago, when the condition of his health became such, that he was compelled to close out his very prosperous business and since which time, he had been unable to withstand but very little strenuous labor.

He was neither domineering, sarcastic nor egotistic. He was the type of man that meant much to other men and though he can never again mingle with his friends, which he enjoyed to the utmost, his influence upon others will continue.

The comfortable and pleasant home maintained by himself and his devoted sister is now enwrapped in gloom. The fond brotherly chords over which vibrated the sweetest accents in symphonies of love and devotion, have suddenly been snapped. As they protrude their way now downward from the ethereal hue, they do not reach farther than the veil, so the zephyrs that spur the living on to newer life, as we mortals want a little longer to receive the full essence of their tide do not catch the impulse, for they now bear messages to the Infinite.

Let the living be content with the fact that to die is not to cease to be, but that it, in reality, is just beginning to live. We should not sigh at the thought of death. It is but the fulfillment of the law Divine. He, by his infinite wisdom, in legislating for us, gives by inspiration to us mortals here below, the hope of an everlasting life, a mansion in the skies, not made with hands, but to endure forever.—A Friend. 10-22

CARD OF THANKS.

Death of Prominent Citizen.

John Hulitt, one of Hillsboro's most prominent and well-to-do citizens, died at his home on East Walnut street last Friday morning from a complication of diseases. Mr. Hulitt was born near the Point on Feb. 27, 1839, and lived in that vicinity until he reached young manhood. He was for a number of years engaged in business in Rainsboro and later came to Hillsboro, about twenty years ago, where he had since resided.

He was one of 8 children, 4 of whom have preceeded him to that bourne from whence none return. He was married Sept. 29, 1913, to Daisy E. Chaney, daughter of Henry and Eliza Chaney. To this union was born one son, John Henry. He leaves a wife, son, mother, two brothers and one sister, besides a host of friends to mourn his departure. He was a man of strict integrity, assiduous in the discharge of his duty to his employer, kind and courteous to those who came in contact with him, ready and willing to help his fellowmen and a man who seemed to be deeply interested in the civic and government affairs of life, both national and local. Sad and sudden was the call of him so dearly loved by all. His memory is as dear to-day as in the hour he passed away.

Josiah Stevenson, one of Hillsboro's oldest and most well-known and highly respected citizens, died at his home on Southern avenue last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Stevenson, who had been in ailing health for a number of years, had lived in Hillsboro nearly all his life, having been engaged in the merchant tailoring business until about ten years ago. He was a native of New Jersey and at the time of his death was aged nearly 88 years. He was a member of the I. O. O. F., having been identified with that order for more than sixty-three years.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. H. Shields, assisted by the I. O. O. F., were held on Tuesday afternoon, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Pink Wilkin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkin, who reside several miles south-east of Hillsboro, committed suicide last Tuesday afternoon by hanging himself to a rafter in the barn on the farm of his parents.

Young Wilkin, who was aged about 33 years, is thought to have committed the rash act while in a despondent mood over his physical condition. It is told by his acquaintances that he was suffering from tuberculosis and had often complained that the dread disease had been allowed to get too much headway and it would finally result in his death. Whether this statement is true or not could not be verified. At any rate on Tuesday afternoon it is said he had complained to his mother of the weak condition of his lungs and about 2 o'clock left the house. Nothing more was seen of him until about one hour later when his father, who had gone to the mail box, which is on the Berryville pike, and one mile from the Wilkin home, returned and found his son hanging to a beam in the barn.

The young man had tied a rope to one of the rafters, and standing on a box, put the loop around his neck and jumped off. When his body was found suspended by his father, neighbors were called and a physician summoned, but life was extinct. Sheriff Satterfield and Coroner McWilliams were notified and as soon as possible they were on their way to the saddened home.

Mr. Wilkin was a young man of good habits and his self destruction is deplored by many. He was a cousin of Walter S. Barrett, auditor of Ross county, and is well known to many in Hillsboro.

Funeral services will be held this morning at 11 o'clock after which interment will be made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Just twenty-five years ago this week the Gazette published the following marriage licenses. How many of the contracting parties do you know?

Fred Dunn and Olive Marshall.

Joshua Hatcher and Catharine W. Nulton.

S. W. Lawhorn and Mary F. Mull.

Frank S. Caldwell and Ida B. Winegar.

Mrs. Kate Burns, colored, aged 43 years, died at the Highland County Hospital last Friday. Funeral services were held on Sunday morning after which the body was taken to the Gest Settlement for burial.

Andy Martin, colored, 45 years old, died from an attack of dropsy last Friday. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and interment made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

J. R. Marshall, formerly owner and editor of the Gazette, and well known to many of our older readers, died at his home in Washington C. H. last Sunday morning after an illness of several months, aged 72 years. At the summons of the death angel, the career of a veteran newspaper man of the old school was brought to a close. For many years Mr. Marshall was the editor of the Gazette, being associated in business with Mr. R. T. Hough, and in that capacity his writings were forceful, impressionable and outspoken and typical of the times in which he served. He was intensely partisan, but ever loyal to his friends. Mr. Marshall learned the printers' trade in New York, but early in young manhood he came west and located in Hillsboro and became identified with this paper. At that time the type setting machine was unknown and the Gazette was printed on an old "Washington" hand press, but the deceased performed his life work with enthusiasm and a zeal that won for him many words of praise by those who knew him while he was engaged in active business here. After disposing of his interests here Mr. Marshall went to Springfield where for a time he was the editor of the Sunday Sun. Later he located at Washington C. H., where he spent the remainder of his life, and where for a few years he was connected with the Ohio State Register and quite a factor in making that paper one of the best in Southern Ohio. In the death of Mr. Marshall, who lived and served the public in times when the issues were acute and partisan feeling was intense, the fast thinning ranks of the old guard have been further depleted. He is survived by his wife and three children, Mrs. Fred Wilson, of South Solon; Maurice, of Pittsburg, and Miss Nellie. Funeral services were held last Tuesday afternoon, after which the remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at Washington C. H.

Miss Sarah Lambert, aged about 66 years, died at her home in this city last Saturday evening after a short illness. Miss Lambert was born in England, but came to this country while quite young. For many years she was a teacher in our public schools and was a prominent member and active worker in the W. C. T. U. Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning at the Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. E. R. Slutz, and interment made in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Samuel Krebs died at her home near Mt. Washington last Sunday morning after a brief illness, aged about 43 years. On Tuesday morning the remains were taken to Westboro where funeral services were held and burial made in the cemetery in that village.

Edward Foley, victim of an automobile accident at Huntington, W. Va., several weeks ago, died at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Andrew Caniff, on East street in this city last Saturday night. The accident which cost him his life occurred on the night of Sept. 21. Foley, with a companion, was out riding and returned to Huntington about 11 o'clock. As they were driving down one of the main streets of that city they were overtaken by a party in another machine, and upon reaching an intersecting street they tried to turn into it, but the other car did the same thing, and in attempting to avoid a collision the driver of the automobile in which Mr. Foley was riding ran close to the curb. The suddenness of the short turn overbalanced the unfortunate young man and his head struck a telephone pole, crushing his skull.

For a time it was believed he had a chance to recover, but when it was found that he could not he was brought to Hillsboro about a week before death relieved him of his suffering.

The deceased was the son of Jerry Foley and aged about 39 years. He was born and reared here and few men had more friends than he. Honest, upright, industrious and kind, he was held in high esteem and respected by all. He was a member of the Elks' Lodge and the members of that organization attended his funeral in a body.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Father Burke, were held at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery here.

Death of E. N. Patton.

Edward N. Patton, formerly of this county, died at his home in Albuquerque, N. M., on Wednesday night of last week from a stroke of apoplexy, aged about 44 years. For a number of years he had been a resident of Holton, Kan., but had gone to Albuquerque only a few days before his death for the benefit of his health. The body was taken back to Holton where funeral services were held on Monday afternoon. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Spahr Glaze and Joseph Patton, of Highland county, and they and Mrs. Glaze's husband went to Holton to attend the funeral. Mr. Patton is survived by a widow and three children and femoved to Kansas about eighteen years ago.

Obituary.

Pink J. C. Wilkin was born Sept. 7, 1882, and departed this life Nov. 2, 1915, aged 33 years 1 month and 26 days.

As we attempt to write a few words in behalf of our friend and loved one, who has gone from us and this world of care to "That Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" where there will be no more sorrow nor pain, we realize that we will miss the kind, loving hand of a son, brother, friend and neighbor. He leaves to mourn the loss a father, mother, sister, two brothers, and many friends. Having been closely associated with the deceased at times for a number of years we are glad to say that our life has been made better by having known him. He united with the United Brethren Church at Chillicothe, Ohio, several years ago and has tried to live a conscientious christain life. Surely he must have chosen the golden rule as a motto to live by for he never spoke unkindly of others and was considerate and just in his dealings with others.

While his disposition may not have seemed as sunshiney and bright on account of poor health, as that of some yet he was courteous and genteel and bore his portion in life without grumbling. For something like two years he had known that his health and strength were gradually failing and had little hopes for improvement. Now as we realize that he has gone from us never to return it is hard to say goodbye, yet we hope to meet again in that glad band on high.

MRS. ANNE KIRBY SMITH

has the distinction of being the oldest native born woman living in Hillsboro. She is the eldest daughter of Dr. Jacob Kirby, one of the pioneer physicians of this section, and has resided continuously in Hillsboro from her birth until the present time. She was born Nov. 15, 1825, at the residence of her parents which stood on the lot now occupied by the Feibel store. On Monday Mrs. Smith celebrated the 90th anniversary of her birth and is as hale and hearty as a woman many years her junior.

It falls to the lot of few persons to witness such remarkable and wonderful progress in affairs as has occurred during her lifetime. She saw the first stage coach pass through Hillsboro, this being as great an event in that day as the first railroad train was later. The first dray, a clumsy affair, was also a novel method of transportation which caused much excitement in the little village. She also witnessed the arrival of the first locomotive and train in September, 1853, and the arrival of the first traction car about nine years ago. She saw the introduction of the automobile and bids fair to live long enough to see that character of conveyance give way to flying machines.

Mr. Roads was a life-long Republican in politics and in 1891 was elected treasurer of this county and re-elected in 1893. His integrity, honesty and faithfulness were never questioned and the county loses one of the best of the old school. He was a veteran of the civil war and not only did his duty as a soldier but was a splendid citizen. His wife survives him. Funeral services were held on Monday morning at the M. E. Church in Rainsboro, after which the remains were taken to Greenfield and laid to rest in the cemetery there.

One of the most distressing accidents that ever happened in the annals of Hillsboro occurred last Tuesday afternoon in the basement at the plant of the Geyler Manufacturing Co., on West Main street, and in which H. H. Richards, one of the city's prominent business men, lost his life.

In the cellar at the Geyler mill is an emery wheel which Mr. Richards had often used in repairing tools and machinery. On Tuesday afternoon he went to the mill for the purpose of mending or sharpening some instrument and it is believed he met his death while attempting to put a belt on the pulley by which the emery wheel was operated. Mr. Richards was thoroughly acquainted with the working of the belt and pulley and a few moments before the accident had declined assistance by one of the employes who offered to put the belt on for him.

There were no eyewitnesses to the horrible affair and just how the mishap occurred will never be known and will remain a matter of conjecture. The facts in the case, however, as nearly as can be gained, are that the unfortunate man had gone to the Geyler plant about two o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and upon going to the basement he attempted to place the belt on the pulley with the aid of a stick. As the emery wheel is seldom used by the men at the mill the belt was removed in order that the wheel be saved the stress of continual motion. It is believed that Mr. Richards had gotten on the wrong side of the rapidly revolving pulley and the stick he was using was struck by one of the spokes with great force, which sent it almost entirely through his body.

His intestines were pierced by the piece of wood, which was about one and one-quarter inches thick and about fifteen inches long, and a large hole was made in his side. After the accident Mr. Richards walked to the engine room, which is situated on the same floor where the mishap took place, and told the engineer, Bartley Stanforth, that he was badly injured and requested that a physician be called. This was immediately done and as soon as possible the unfortunate man was removed to his home on West street by means of an improvised stretcher, where an operation was attempted. Upon investigation it was found that not only the intestines had been terribly lacerated, but that a large blood vessel had also been ruptured and nothing could be done to save his life and he succumbed to his injuries about two hours after he had been taken home.

Mr. Richards, who was one of the city's most enterprising, energetic and public spirited business men, was aged about 52 years. He was a charter member of the Business Men's Association and in all matters for the betterment and progress of Hillsboro he was always found in the front rank, giving liberally, both in time and money. The deceased was not only well known here, but all over the county and the news of his terrible death came as a great shock to the entire community. For over twenty-five years he had been in the flour milling business here and by his uprightness, integrity and honesty had won hosts of friends whose sympathy goes out to his grief stricken wife and other relatives. Besides his wife he is survived by a young son, his mother, two brothers, Prof. E. E. Richards, of Columbus, and Prof. J. W. Richards, head master of Lake Forest Academy, and one sister, Mrs. Lavina Alspach.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. L. E. Durr, were held at the home yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which interment was made in the Hillsboro cemetery.

Death of H. C. Ambrose.

The grim reaper has been unusually severe on Hillsboro during the past week, several of our best citizens being his victims and in no case was the loss greater than when H. C. Ambrose, who had been ill for several months, died last Thursday night. He was aged about 71 years and was a veteran of the civil war. For many years he had been a prominent figure in the business life of the village and at the time of his death was the proprietor of the Economy Store. For a number of years he had been a member of council, being re-elected at the last election, and in all of the deliberations of that body his advice probably was the most sought. His intelligence, judgment and discernment, mixed with business ability and his high regard for the welfare of everybody, won for him a place in the community that will be hard to fill. He is survived by four children, Mrs. Baxter Cunningham, of Portsmouth; F. R. Ambrose, of Columbus; Mrs. Clara Brunner and W. C. Ambrose, of Hillsboro.

Death of Mrs. O. E. Hite.

Mrs. Olive Ennis Hite, better remembered as Miss Olive Colvin by many of our older readers, died at her home in Los Angeles, California, on Nov. 27. Mrs. Hite was born at New Market in this county and attended school at the Hillsboro Female College while the late Dr. Matthews was president of that institution. She was a very brilliant woman, her talent being of a journalistic nature, and besides work of that for many of the larger papers of the country, she had frequently contributed articles which were published in the Gazette. The death of Mrs. Hite indicates once more the rapid disappearance of those who made Hillsboro famous for the culture, refinement and polish, for which it has been noted, and brings genuine sorrow to numerous friends of bygone days. The body of Mrs. Hite was cremated according to her request.

Obituary.

Vivian Ruth, the little daughter of Archie E. and Pearl Hart, born August 9th, 1913, and quietly passed away November 28th, 1915, aged 2 years 3 months and 19 days. She leaves a father, mother and three sisters and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

Let everlasting thanks be thine,
For such a bright display
As makes the world of darkness shine
With beams of heavenly day.

Oh! for this love let rocks and hills
Their lasting silence break,
And all harmonious human tongues,
Their Savior's praises speak.

We miss you, little Ruthie,
We miss you all the day,
And home has seemed so cheerless
Since our darling went away.

But we will live to meet you,
In your heavenly home so high,
Papa, mamma and little sisters
Bid our little Ruth good-bye.

Memorial Sketch of Henry Ambrose.

"I am a gentleman" one of Shakespeare's characters asserts. And the answer came "I'll be sworn thou art: thy tongue, thy face, thy limbs, actions and spirit, do give thee fivefold blazon."

So with Henry Ambrose, "gentleman" was stamped upon him so plainly that he who ran might read. Mr. Ambrose was even more than a gentleman—he was a christian gentleman. Indeed we feel certain that his gentility could not have reached such high degree had it not been permeated by the spirit of the Great Founder of Christianity. To these high qualities of gentility and Christianity, Mr. Ambrose added yet another, that of fervid patriotism. Where can you find a finer trio of character attributes. A man gentle to his brother men. A man reverent to his God and devoted to his Saviour, a man going forth at life's risk to fight his country's battles.

It was on November 4th, 1844, that Mr. Ambrose was born into this world and his departure was upon Nov. 18th, 1915. Between two anniversaries his summons came. Two weeks had passed since the anniversary of his birth. Had he but tarried one week longer he would have been with his loved ones at the Thanksgiving time, an anniversary always made much of by his family. The dates of birth and death comprise between 71 years and 14 days.

It was while attending Otterbein University that the young man answered his country's call and enlisted in Co. C. 133rd Regiment O. V. I.

After faithful and courageous service he was honorably discharged from the service in December, 1864. Four years later he was married to Anna Caroline Bennett. The date of the wedding was Feb. 16th, 1869. In great joy and happiness they lived together until a few years ago the wife and mother was called to her heavenly home. An infant daughter, Florence, had preceded her and, with her mother, joined in the welcome to husband and father when he came to them last Thursday. Now father and mother and the little sister whom they were not permitted to love long here upon earth will wait the coming of the other members of their broken family circle. The living children are: Mrs. R. B. Cunningham, of Portsmouth, Ohio; Frank R., Mrs. Clara Brunner and Will. C.

Of his own immediate family two sisters survive, Mrs. Mary J. Riser, of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Catharine Bennett, of this city. Those whose names have just been mentioned are those who were permitted to be near to Mr Ambrose by blood ties. Were I to enumerate the names of those who were bound to him by friendship's ties, only space and time would limit.

Of some one it has been said: "He had an infinite capacity for love and friendship."

Quiet, unassuming, unobtrusive, he nevertheless had the power and strength of sterling character. More than once, the last time only a few weeks ago, the citizens of this town showed their confidence in him as a man and their respect for his judgment, by electing him to the council. When in home, or church, or store, or town, he was always found at his post.

For many years he was a member of the local Methodist Episcopal Church, where his loss will be felt most keenly. As Elija's mantle fell upon the young Elisha, so may a double portion of this good father's spirit fall upon his two splendid sons and may they take up the burdens he has laid down.

Surrounded by several of their children, Judge and Mrs. T. M. Watts on Monday quietly celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of an important event that occurred on Dec. 27, 1865, in Marshall township, that event being the union of their two lives in wedlock. They have since lived happily together, braving the storms and sorrows and sharing the joys of half a century and are now calmly going down life's slope, hand in hand, spending the remaining years, which we hope may be many, in peace and quiet.

The Judge and his wife have reared a large family and one of the consolations of the couple in connection with their offspring is that all have turned out to be useful and highly esteemed citizens.
